

MONTHLY PERFORMANCE REPORT

31 JANUARY 2015

- The Fund NAV at 31st January was 0.9392, an increase of 1.3% for the past 3 months. During this time the index increased 1.1%.
- The objective of the fund performance is to protect capital when the stock market falls and participate in the upside when the market rises. During the past 3 months the fund participated in the upside in December [0.3%] and January [1.1%], whilst protecting capital during the market falls in November (the market fell 3.9% whilst the fund was flat.)
- There has been an increase in the level of stock market volatility over the past quarter. This is favourable for our fund as it presents more opportunities for us to lower our cost of protection, participating in the upside and then 'locking in' the gains.
- It is our view that share market volatility will rise from historical lows. The global economic conditions remain fragile, from a combination of a highly indebted world and geopolitical factors. There have been substantial movements in exchange rates, and commodity prices, particularly iron ore and oil prices. In addition, there are a number of key policy decisions from Central Banks in Japan and the EU anticipated over the next quarter. We expect this to contribute to increasing share market volatility.
